

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Chlorine dioxide is a well-known disinfectant widely used in many applications. This invention discloses procedures and methodologies to make thin wall gloves that release chlorine dioxide gas. The resulting gloves have better barrier integrity. They are particularly efficient to prevent cross contamination, and the gloves preserve all the mechanical and physical properties of conventional.